Meet the second group of Milwaukee Business Journal's 2021 Women of Influence winners

May 18, 2021, 10:00am CDT

The Milwaukee Business Journal has announced the second round of our 2021 Women of Influence winners, a list that includes prominent business and community leaders from throughout southeastern Wisconsin. We'll continue releasing more honoree names in the coming days on our website.

We will announce the remaining winners on Wednesday at 10 a.m. — or see the June 4 weekly edition for the complete list. See the slideshow below for photos of some of our winners.

The second group includes Laura Gutierrez, executive director of the United Community Center; Kate Braasch, chief of presidential affairs at Marquette University; C. Greer Jordan, vice president of inclusion and diversity at Medical College of Wisconsin; Joan Johnson, library director of the Milwaukee Public Library; and Julie Granger, executive vice president of Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

We announced the first group of winners on Monday. Click on the slideshow below to see their photos.

In all, we will honor 28 women as part of the Milwaukee Business Journal's 2021 Women of Influence Awards. These women are the cream of the crop of Milwaukee's professional community. They've grown businesses, created products, inspired future generations and made southeastern Wisconsin a better place to live and work.

This is the 21st year the Milwaukee Business Journal has honored Milwaukee's most influential women. Previous winners include Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Rebecca Dallet, former Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Janine Geske, TMJ4 anchor Susan Kim, TEMPO Milwaukee president Jen Dirks, Johnson Financial Group chairwoman Helen Johnson-Leipold, Children's Wisconsin president and CEO Peggy Troy, U.S. Judge Patricia Gorence, and Wisconsin Court of Appeals Judge Kitty Brennan.

The Business Journal received nearly 150 nominations for this year's program, one of the highest totals we have ever received for this popular awards program.

The winners will be honored in a special section in the July 16 issue and at a July 15 virtual awards event. Watch for more details on the awards event in the coming weeks.

Watch for special slideshows and other features on our Women of Influence winners over the next several weeks.
